I talk and explain my self without any problems in the three languages, but not without accent.

I studied a Masters course in International Health during one year at the University of Copenhagen and Medical School at Vellore, India together with students from 17 different nations. The language used was English.

I worked for a couple of years in Greenland, a culture quite different from the Danish.

I worked one year in a handicap organization "Muskelsvindfonden=Muscular dystrophy association" and were for 5 years member of their board.

Founder and current vice-president of the Danish NGO Dialogos running projects in Bolivia, Uganda and Nepal at the moment within the fields of primary health care and occupational and environmental medicine.

Founder and current daily leader of the professional network of doctors, ICOEPH, specialized in occupational, environmental and social medicine with the aim to support international work and projects.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

I have been teaching at university level since 1999.

I have been responsible for and supervising the elaboration of teaching materials, books, leaflets, posters etc. in projects in low-income countries(Bolivia) since 1985.
